final stage selling now

New growth is everywhere in Ravenswood as Spring gets more established. Nowhere is that more evident than in our final residential stage, Streamside by Ravenswood, where building is proceeding at pace, and new sales are keeping our team very busy.

Ravenswood Central will also have a host of conveniently-located new services on offer soon, with a unique range of businesses in the newly completed Building 2 set to open pre-Christmas.

Some of our more established businesses are also marking some significant milestones. Our very own local 'dental spa', Smooch is expanding its team to provide new services, while one of our earliest local businesses, New World, marks a major birthday.

New services at Ravenswood Central

Our community will soon be enjoying a range of new services, as new businesses begin opening in Building 2 at Ravenwood Central.

After completing construction in early September, work has begun on fitting out the premises for a range of new local retailers. These include the Unichem Pharmacy, Lifestyle Furniture store, Liquorland and Mobile Planet phone repair. A barber and Wash N Dry laundrette are some of the other convenient services in the new building, while the Pilates Studio will provide another local option for the fitness conscious. Our friends at Bayleys and Harcourts Four Seasons will also be opening dedicated offices, in response to the exceptional growth we're seeing across the wider region.

Most businesses are expected to open prior to Christmas, with a new medical centre planned for opening in the new year.

Ravenswood community shares in New World's big birthday bash

The local community enjoyed great specials and a range of treats, as part of New World Ravenswood's celebration of four years serving our local community.

Owner Justin Blackler, who operates the supermarket with his wife, Melissa, says after being one of the earliest businesses to establish at Ravenswood, the four years has gone quickly.

"It's been an amazing journey to grow alongside the community and great to see there's plenty of growth still to come," says Justin.

Justin says the birthday celebration was a great example of the support they enjoy from locals.

"It was a massive day – definitely our best day of the year. We had fantastic feedback from customers, we gave away some amazing prizes and we were really, really well supported by the community."

The business is one of the fastest growing for the New World brand in the South Island, something Justin puts down to not only the growth of the local region, but also the approach he and his team have taken to serving the local community. Over 95% of the supermarket's 140 employees come from the local region, including a team of managers and qualified bakers, butchers and other skilled tradespeople.

"We see that as an important part of our role – supporting the community we're lucky enough to be a part of through employment, events and sponsorships," says Justin.

"Looking forward," says Justin, "it's not only the growth in our local population we're looking forward to, which supports all the local businesses that are here, but also all the other amenities that are coming."

"That's definitely fantastic because it's all that stuff that helps keep people on this side of the bridge, which is great for North Canterbury."

Bright smiles for our community

Smooch at Ravenswood Central, offers an experience like no other – professional, affordable dental care in a spa-like environment. Combining advanced dental techniques and preventive measures, Smooch focuses on wellness through oral care, in a relaxing, welcoming space.

In September, the clinic welcomed dentist Dr Touraj Nejatian, who moved from Australia to take up the new role. Dr Touraj brings more than 20 years of international academic and clinical experience, providing mentorship and advanced training, while contributing to innovations in digital dentistry.

Smooch owner George Bayley says Dr Touraj is an incredible asset to the clinic, and to New Zealand.

"Dr Touraj is a fantastic complement to our team of passionate professionals, who are focused on prevention and minimally invasive care," said George.

The expansion of the team comes as Smooch establishes its reputation as a 'destination clinic', drawing patients both from around the local community, and across the Christchurch area.

George says with the new services in Building 2 at Ravenswood Central, including the medical centre and Unichem chemist, the centre is developing as an allied health hub for the region.

"The location is primo – it's just got a great vibe to it. There's nowhere else we'd be in North Canterbury."
